the national drug-related deaths database (ndrdd) was set up to look at the nature and social circumstances of those whose deaths are linked to drugs.